

Tribe Property Technologies Inc.

Symbol: TSX.V: TRBE

Market Cap: 75.8M

Sector: Technology

Purpose: Raise Awareness / Open Market Buying

At Tribe, we see things differently. Our blended people and tech-forward strategy views community as a whole. We work together with owners, residents, councils/boards, real estate developers and vendors to understand the complete community from pre-construction to post-occupancy, making community our business. Our technology-enabled services enhance the community living experience through their ability to connect, inform, educate and protect.

Investor Bullet Points

- CONNECT: We are breaking down barriers and providing access to the information and people that are needed to support a thriving community.
- EDUCATION: Education is empowerment. It is that simple. Residential community living is complex. If we can add value through education, we are all better for it.
- INFORM: We believe an informed community is a healthy community – one that is able to make decisions in the best interest of its individual members and the larger community.
- PROTECT: Through tech-enabled service we can maintain and protect the value of not only your home, but your community. We care.

Joseph Nakhla, CEO

Joseph founded Tribe in 2011 and has been overseeing its operations and expansion since. Prior to this, he was the Chief Operating Officer of TIO Networks, a former TSX listed company that was acquired by Paypal.

Joseph currently serves on the Policy Advisory Council of the Downtown Vancouver Business Improvement Association (DVBIA). He is also a board member of OctoAI Technologies Corp. and Minehub Technologies Inc.

Joseph studied Civil and Structural engineering and Business Management courses at the British Columbia Institute of Technology.