

Silver47 Exploration Corp.

Symbol: TSXV: AGA | OTCQB: AAGAF

Sector: Mining

Purpose: Raise Awareness / Open Market Buying

Silver47 Exploration Corp. is a Canadian-based exploration company focused on advancing high-potential silver and critical metals projects across North America. The company wholly owns three polymetallic exploration projects: the flagship Red Mountain Project in southcentral Alaska, the Adams Plateau Project in British Columbia, and the Michelle Project in the Yukon Territory.

Investor Bullet Points:

- Flagship Project with Strong Resource Base: Red Mountain Project hosts an inferred resource of 168.6 million ounces of silver equivalent at a grade of 335.7 g/t AgEq, with strong exploration upside. Targeting an additional 500-900 million ounces of silver equivalent based on current exploration estimates.
- Strategic Location & Jurisdiction: Located on state-managed land in Alaska, Red Mountain benefits from accessible infrastructure and lies within a mining-positive jurisdiction, providing a secure and conducive environment for exploration and development.
- Exposure to Critical Metals Demand: Silver47's portfolio includes not only high-grade silver but also critical minerals like copper, zinc, lead, antimony, and gallium—metals in high demand due to the global push for electrification and clean energy technologies

Gary Thompson – CEO

Gary Thompson is a seasoned geologist with a proven track record in exploration and company building. Currently serving as Chairman and CEO of Brixton Metals (TSXV: BBB), Gary has held leadership roles across several successful ventures, including Sierra Geothermal Power, which was sold in 2010. In addition to his expertise in geology he has raised over $135 million of equity for exploration companies.